

DRIVE FOR CHARITIES ENDS TO-NIGHT

All Reports Must Be In At Once
SCI. 25 LEADS

Expected That Objective Will Not Be Reached

With the lists for the Federal Charities closing to-night, the university objective has not as yet been reached. In all about four hundred dollars have been collected according to the latest returns which is far below the amount allotted to the University. However, no returns have been received from several classes in the college and it is hoped that when the amount is raised a satisfactory amount. As every year is heard from the total will yet only one year in Medicine has handed in a report, this being the Freshman class. There are also the classes in Commerce and one in Science to report.

The drive will close to-night at six o'clock and all reports must be in before that hour. It is absolutely necessary that those in charge get these reports in the specified time as the University report must be in to the campaign committee by to-night. Red Reid who has charge of the campaign in the university will be at the Union all afternoon and will receive the reports of the different classes.

In the drive the class of Sci '25 is leading all others with a total of $70.00 collected. Arts '26 is close behind with $62.00. Law '26 and Law '27 are also showing well with $30.00 and $40.00 respectively. Commerce '25 the only class in that faculty to report has collected $38.30.

Below is given the amount sent in by the different classes.

Arts '25	$18.50
Arts '26	$62.00
Arts '27	$31.00
Arts '28	$5.00
Comm '25	$38.30
Sci. '25	$70.00
Sci. '26	$30.25
Sci. '27	$7.00
Med. '29	$21.40
Dent '25	$22.50
Dent '26	$6.00
Dent '27	$8.00
Law '26	$30.00
Law '27	$40.00
Com '25	$38.30

The R. V. C. have also been collecting but no reports have been turned in as yet. The R. V. C. has always shown a great spirit in their drives and it is expected that will turn in a good amount.

BASKETBALL SQUADS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Sixty Men Put Through Fast workout in M.H.S. Gymnasium

As the basketballers are as yet only in moderately good shape the coaches are striving to get them in condition before starting heavier work. Yesterday at 5 p. m. the men were put through a workout at the M. H. S. gym. Both Coach Van Wagner and Coach Moore expressed themselves as being satisfied with the progress made so far.

A much larger number of men was out last night than the first two practices. A squad of about sixty men being present. These were divided into sections those who have had previous basketball experience on the university teams, and beginners or newcomers to college in the second group. Coach Moore gave the first men some instruction in handling and passing the ball, and a little combination work on throw-ins from the side line, while Coach Van Wagner took the others and put them through small skirmishes on the main floor. The squads changed over after a time and Mr. Van Wagner put the more experienced players through some light work.

The coaches are very well satisfied with the showing made yesterday and there will be another practice to-night at 5 o'clock and one on Monday of next week. Early next week the squad will be cut and a group of about twenty or more men will be selected to turn out for Senior and Intermediate A. The rest will work out in Molson's Hall under Coach Moore. There is still room for more men and Coach Van Wagner strongly urges anyone with any basketball experience at all to turn out.

RECITAL BY MUSIC STAFF AT R.V.C.

Miss Lichtenstein, Mr. Brant And Mr. Clapperton
FIRST OF YEAR

Pianoforte, Violin and Vocal Selection Appreciated By Large Audience

The McGill conservatorium concert season was opened last night by a Staff Recital which was held in the R. V. C. Convocation Hall before a large and appreciative audience.

The members of the staff of the Faculty of Music who took part were Miss Clara Lichtenstein, pianist and accompanist, Mr. Paul Brant, violinist, and Mr. Walter Clapperton, vocalist.

Miss Lichtenstein in her usual capable and pleasing manner rendered sympathetic accompaniments and delighted her audience. Her beautiful flowing tone and easy style were shown to great advantage in the Mozart Sonata.

Mr. Brant received a particularly enthusiastic reception in the Cesar Franck Sonata. His glorious tone and the brilliant interpretation of the Allegretto poco mosso were much appreciated and after this item he was recalled and responded to an encore.

Mr. Clapperton sang in his usual artistic way, the rich mellow tones of his bass baritone showing to particular advantage in "Ye twice ten hundred deities." The song "Bright is the ring of Words" was particularly well rendered. Mr. Clapperton also responded to an encore.

The following is the programme:

1. SONATA No. 11 in B flat for Pianoforte and Violin Mozart
- (a) Allegro moderato
- (b) Andantino sostenuto e cantabile
- (c) Rondo, allegro
2. ARIAS (a) "Ye twice ten hundred deities" Purcell
- (b) "Where'er you walk from Semole" Handel
3. SONATA for Violin and Pianoforte Cesar Franck
- (a) Allegretto ben moderato
- (b) Allegro
- (c) Recitativo-Fantasia
- (d) Allegretto poco mosso
4. SONGS (a) Ah, sweet my love, thou charmiest me . . . Brahms
- (b) My love is green . . . Brahms
5. (a) AIR from the Violin Concerto in A minor . . . Goldmark
- (b) Hejre Kati (Scene from the Csarda) Hrbay

STIFF PRACTICE FOR SENIORS YESTERDAY

Hughes and Moore Only Regulars Absent From Line-up

The seniors had one of their hardest work-outs yesterday, with everybody on the line-up excepting Moore and Hughes. After the men had done some running, ball-carrying, passing, and gathered in punts, they went into a stiff scrimmage practice, and kept going without a stop for three-quarters of an hour, working out new plays, perfecting old ones, and getting them away smoothly and with precision. The weather was warm yesterday, but the men kept at it hard and fast, and then went against the intermediate squad which put up strong opposition, keeping on the offensive most of the time.

When the seniors met M. A. A. A. on Thanksgiving Day to decide the football supremacy in the city, the Red and White outfit should be at full strength, with the possible exception of Moore and Hughes, who may be kept out of the play in order to allow them to fully recover from their injuries received in the last Queen's game.

At present it seems likely that McGill should have all her regulars in action against Varsity on the 15th, when, on their home grounds the men of McGill will battle to gain a place in the win column and draw up alongside the Blue and White in second place in the intercollegiate standings.

INTERFACULTY PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP AT 3

Science Meets Commerce in Deciding Game To-day

With the interfaculty championship in the balance, Science meets Commerce to-day on the campus to play the deciding game of the season. Up to date both teams have met and defeated each of the other teams but have not met one another yet. The two squads are evenly matched and the outcome of the struggle will not be apparent until the final whistle blows.

Commerce has a splendid backfield combination and much spectacular play may be expected from them. Morrell will attempt the drop-kicks while Lehan may be depended on for distance punts.

Hyman and Gill of Science demonstrated some neat passing and end runs in their recent games, and if they keep up the good work, Commerce's touch line will be in constant danger of being erased by their flying feet.

A big crowd of rooters is expected and they may rest assured that they will be well rewarded and will witness one of the finest games of the season.

The probable line up is:

Commerce	Science
Kendrick Bourne
Dowling Gill
Lehan Irving
Eveleigh Hyman
Kelland Smith
Powers Norris
Demitre Vernet
Carson Anson
Allan Timmin
Robertson Dion
Leharon Almond
Harcourt Ellis

LAST INFORMAL BEFORE CHRISTMAS

At 8:30 To-night in Union Ball Room

Everything is all for the last big informal before Christmas. Over one hundred and ten tickets have already been sold and there are only half a dozen now left. In the Union Tuck Shop, and these will probably be sold before noon to-day.

The last informal was acclaimed a great success by all present and everyone is out to make this one as good and better if possible. This dance will have the advantage of having the supper in one sitting which will give more time for dancing.

It is understood that Robins Burland will have a trumpet added to his six-piece orchestra and without doubt this will be one of the best combinations in the University. Burland's orchestra is well known and has supplied the music at McGill several of the Jazz Teas at the Union Cafeteria.

Professor and Miss French and Miss Joan Foster of R. V. C. have kindly consented to act as chaperones. The dance is to start at 8.30 p. m. sharp. Last informal many were unpleasantly surprised to discover that the dance had already started when they made their belated appearance.

This year's Union House committee intends to get all its functions started on time.

EDITORIAL STAFF OF ANNUAL BEGINS WORK

With F. M. Newton in the chair, the board, newly elected by the junior years of the various faculties to publish Old McGill '26 got under way at a meeting held yesterday in the Annual Board Room of the Union at 5.00 p. m. Ted Newton who was editor in chief of the successful volume last year, outlined the work of the board and gave valuable suggestions from the experience he had gained. Each member was given a copy of last year's annual for reference purposes.

To get things organized it was decided to elect a temporary editor-in-chief. Horve Gaylin was nominated but did not wish to assume so much responsibility because of a very large course and other duties. Ted Harris was then nominated and elected without opposition. Ted Newton was elected unanimously to be advisory editor.

NO ISSUE MONDAY

Monday, November 10th., being Thanksgiving Day there will be no issue of the Daily.

ACCIDENT THREATENED THE UNION

Host of Automobiles Collided Near Union Last Night

GREAT COMMOTION

Daily Staff Showed Worth By Staying at Desks

While the members of the Daily staff were peacefully working on to-day's issue in the uncanny silence of midnight, a crash, followed by several shrill screams and the falling of bricks, fenders bumpers and other motor paraphernalia smote on their ears and awakened them from their labours. The night editor did not move an eyelash but mechanically shouted "S—get that story, quick!"

On arriving on the scene, the reporter came across a jumble of four or five automobiles which gave him the impression that an automobile accessory shop had opened on the roadside near the Union. Seats, steering wheels, electric lights, bumpers, fenders wheels, tires, and mud-guards were seen scattered all over the streets. On demanding how the accident had happened, one excited participant in the party gave an account of it. "We were approaching Sherbooke along University Street when I saw a car approaching from the east, another from the west, two or three from the south and four or five motorcycles scattered about, not to say anything about a dozen or more bicycles. We all thought we would get across first and—"

So great was the smash up that a few motorcycles immediately rose into the air threatened the Union. However, the danger was averted and the staff returned to work far into the night.

CHEMICAL INDUSTRY CLUB TO MEET NOV. 11

"Illuminating Gas Production as practiced at the M. L. H., and P. Ville Emard Plant," will be the subject of a paper by A. Granik, Chem. Eng. '26 at the regular meeting of the Chemical Industry Club on Tues. Nov. 11th at 5 P. M. In room 2 of the Macdonald Chemistry Building Granik has been connected with this plant during the past summer, the paper is expected to be one of the most interesting and helpful to all members.

"We hope that every member, especially first and second year men, will be present at this meeting, for the future of the club is in their hands and it is therefore necessary that they take an interest in the working and acoustom themselves to its workings," said a member of the executive committee to-day.

The club was formed last year, and its purpose is, not only to provide trips to various industrial plants, but also to enable the members to present paper at regular meetings, thus furnishing much needed information concerning practical chemical processes involved in industry.

PHYSICAL SOCIETY TO MEET TO-DAY

Dr. Foster's Paper on a Little Known Phenomenon Spectral

Dr. Foster who has recently joined the staff of the Macdonald Physics Bldg will present a paper upon a very little known physical phenomenon, namely, the separation of certain spectral lines due to an electrostatic field.

He will deal with the theoretical aspect of this problem first. Many experimenters have obtained results contradictory to theory but in recent work which he has done at Yale and elsewhere Dr. Foster has obtained photographs which are in perfect accord with the theoretical expectations.

All interested are invited to attend. There was a man in ancient times who had a foot twelve inches long, but he didn't use it as a rule.

VARIED PROGRAM AT R.V.C. MUSIC CLUB

Large Number Enjoy Performance By Students

With a well balanced programme in which was displayed excellent and more than ordinary musical ability, the R. V. C. Music Club had a most successful recital in the Common Room of the R. V. C. yesterday afternoon. A large and appreciative crowd was present. The performers were much applauded and generous with their encores.

Miss K. Holson commenced the musical part of the programme with a piano solo, "By the Sea," by Schubert-Liszt, rendering it in a manner which portrayed the atmospheric background of the piece. Miss Benny displayed fine technique in a violin solo, Borowski's "Adoration," accompanied by Miss Robson. Miss Griggs' Indian Love Song and the encores in which she was accompanied by Miss Frey, were much appreciated while Miss L. Hurd showed her pianoforte ability in Mendelssohn's "Prelude" and a second piece.

The quintet, composed of the Misses L. Saunders, M. Sangster, E. Cameron, M. Benny, and M. Gilman played a few old favourite songs which were much applauded.

Among the visitors at the meeting were the two former presidents of the club, Mrs. H. K. Harris (formerly Miss K. James) who was influential in organizing the Club two years ago, and Miss Gwen Peiders last year's president.

Miss M. Brooks was elected as first year representative to the Music Club. Mention was made by Miss Perrin of the sale of tickets for the Edmund Burke recital, after which tea was served and a social half-hour brought the meeting to an end.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR GYM. CLUB

Many Last Year's Men Out For Places on Intercollegiate Team

For the past three weeks the gymnastic club has been practising in the Montreal High School Gym. The Club meets every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5.00 P. M., and from the large turn outs, and the quality of the new material, this year promises to be a banner one. The new-comers have been turning out regularly, and are showing up so well that the positions on the various teams for competition are expected to be hotly contested for.

Due to his graduations, Ambrose of last year's intercollegiate team is absent and several of the other members are now in their final year and are unable to spend much time in practice due to the press of studies. Because of this the progress of the new men is being watched with interest, as it is by them that two or three positions on this year's intercollegiate team will be filled.

Several McGill graduates, former members of the gymnastic club, have very kindly offered their services, to help Mr. Finlay in coaching the Club. McLetchie, member of the 1921-22 and 1922-23 teams has been out several times. Mr. Paul Scott, of the 1920-21 and 1921-22 teams, has promised to turn out, and Mr. Wilfred Werry, winner of the silver and bronze Wicksteed Medals, who so ably provided the burlesque at the intercollegiate meet last March is also expected to help. In addition to these three, Mr. Seigel of the North Branch Y. M. C. A., who came third at the Canadian championships last September, has been out for a short time each evening.

Last year, in addition to the annual intercollegiate meet and the Wicksteed competition, a meet was held with the Westmount Y. M. C. A. This proved so successful that it is to be renewed this year with the possible addition of the North Branch Y. M. C. A., and the M. A. A. A. Besides this, arrangements are being made to hold one of two exhibitions in January or February with a view to giving the new men confidence in performing before an audience.

Everybody who is interested in work on the bars, horse and mats is invited to turn out and is urged to do so as soon as possible, for, although the work at present is only preliminary, it is very necessary to any one hoping to become proficient in gymnastics.

SCIENCE DEAN WILL SPEAK IN NEW YORK

Dr. von Ebo Thesis To Be Discussed

IMPORTANT FINDINGS Subject "Secondary Stresses In Bridges," Has aroused Interest

Dean H. A. Mackay of the Science Faculty is away in New York to-day for a special meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers where a paper written by a McGill post-graduate student is to be discussed. Dr. Clail Vivian von Ebo, the author of the subject, "Secondary Stresses In Bridges," came to McGill from the University of South Africa, for post-graduate study, and is one of the most brilliant engineers who ever attended McGill. This paper was presented by Mr. Von Ebo in September 1922 as a thesis to the committee of Graduate Students for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at McGill University.

It first describes all the methods which have been proposed for the complete analysis of secondary stresses due to the rigidity of the joints in bridge trusses. Approximate methods, however, such as those of Engesser and Landsberg, which neglect the effect of the web system are not included.

A typical through railway bridge of six panels is analyzed by each method in turn, using unsymmetrical loading, in order to test more thoroughly the advantages and disadvantages of each method. A critical comparison is then made of the methods thus applied.

Influence lines are developed for the secondary stresses in all the members of the main trusses, in the top chords as effected by the top lateral system, and in a typical cross-frame. These influence lines are then combined for the purpose of computing the maximum secondary stresses in certain typical members.

"The interest that the Society has taken in this paper must be regarded as a very singular honour, both for Dr. von Ebo and McGill."

R.V.C. JUNIORS WIN INTER-YEAR TENNIS

Defeat Sophomores in Two Singles Matches

The R. V. C. inter-class tennis championship was won by the Juniors when Miss Stocking of '26 defeated Miss Cochrane, '27 and Miss de Blois '26 defeated Miss J. Miller '27 in the singles finals yesterday.

Miss Stocking won from Miss Cochrane who is the winner of the R. V. C. individual tennis championship, after three sets, in which the score was 5-7, 6-2, 6-2 while Miss de Blois, who was the runner-up against Miss Cochrane in the other tournament, won straight sets, 6-1 6-4.

In the match between Miss Stocking and Miss Cochrane the games were at first evenly divided. When the score reached 2-5 in favour of Miss Stocking, Miss Cochrane picked up and won the next five games taking the set, 7-5.

The second set had many long rallies and a fine exhibition of both net and back-line playing. Miss Stocking's serving and back-hand strokes were an whole superior and finally won the set 6-2.

The third set was similar to the second, with the score touching twice many times and some clever rallying by both players. The spectators were rooting for their particular class quite keen in the last few games, representatives. The set ended 6-2 for de Blois, but lost the game after Miss Stocking.

In the other match Miss Miller served. Miss de Blois took the next five games, which were all deuce ones. Miss Miller then won her service, but Miss de Blois took the next game and set, 6-1. The playing was fairly good in this set, Miss de Blois getting some fine sweeps and Miss Miller putting in several hard volleys. The playing was much better in the second set, which featured back-line plays chiefly though Miss Miller did some very nice net work. When the score stood four all Miss de Blois took the next two games by hard steady playing, ending the set 6-4 and clinching the victory for the Juniors.

LOWER COST OF DANCES IS RECOMMENDED

Council Favours Less Elaborate Decorations

APPOINTMENTS Debating Team Will Likely Be Sent to Dalhousie

The rule prohibiting parking of cars by students in the University grounds will be maintained by the Grounds Committee. This was announced at a meeting of the Students' Council here last night. The explanation given for the continuance of such a rule is contained in the following communication to the Council: "The Committee wishes that the students generally should know that the reason that such action was taken is no proper place that can be utilized for such purpose. The Committee, however, realizes that such an order involves considerable inconvenience to certain students in the University and it has occurred to them that there is adequate parking space for cars on Carleton Road. In order that this space may be more accessible for the students in Arts, Science and Law, the Committee is having a flight of steps put up leading from this road to the grounds near the Power house."

While this will not entirely dispense with the inconvenience resulting from the rule, the Council felt that it could take no further action for the present.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of H. Munro as Dental representative on the Students' Council has been filled by the election of A. W. Blair to that position. In a letter to the Council, Munro expressed regret that it has been necessary for him to resign, and stated that his action was due private circumstances.

It was announced that H. D. McMillan had been appointed President of the "Daily" and representative to the Council. These positions were formerly held by S. E. Read, but owing to the fact that the "Daily" representative on the council, who is by constitution the President of the "Daily", must be a member of the Students' Society, S. E. Read could not constitutionally fill the offices because being a member of the School of Graduate Studies, he is not a member of the Students' Society.

On the agenda of business was the question whether a debating team should be sent to Dalhousie University. The cost of sending representatives, as submitted by the "Lit", executive, will be approximately $192. The Council voted for the appropriation of this amount to send a debating team to Dalhousie on conditions that the Literary and Debating Society receives a guarantee of at least $75 from that University.

The date set for the Junior Dance, November 28th, was approved. Ways and means of reducing the cost to undergraduates of such functions were discussed at length, for it was felt that costs in the past have been unnecessary high especially when compared with that of other universities. Elaborate decorations account to a great extent for this, but the Union ballroom having been redecorated during the summer, it will not be found necessary this year to invest in such expensive decorations. The Council advised that five dollars should be a maximum price for the Junior Prom.

A request from the Rooters' Band asking that the members be supplied with sweaters of distinctive pattern was tabled for further consideration, in view of the fact that the band will be reorganized after the football season is over, and plans for its expansion will involve further expenditure.

It was decided to send T. F. M. Newton, president of the Union, to represent McGill at the Convention of Presidents of University Unions in Philadelphia at the end of this month.

A short report on developments of the Red and White Revue was given by Sidney Pierce.

ANNUAL DINNER TAKES PLACE NOV 10

Out-of-town students will be the guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the S. C. A. at the annual dinner held in Strathcona Hall on Thanksgiving Day, Monday November 10, at 6.15 p. m. An interesting programme is being arranged and everyone is invited. The dinner is an annual affair and those who have been present in former years will need no further urging. The attendance is limited to one hundred and fifty men and all men who wish to attend should sign the list on the notice board of the S. C. Juniors.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924.

A TIME FOR THANKSGIVING.

Most countries have had from time immemorial some day in the autumn set apart as a day of harvest festival and of thanksgiving for garnered crops. It was so in Canada. Before the war the last Thursday of October was set apart for this purpose. Our memories of those far off days conjures up visions of the simple thanksgiving services, the decorations with autumn leaves, vegetables and ripened grain and forages, the turkey dinners and pumpkin pies.

And then came the war. The first year Thanksgiving day was almost as usual. Canada was hardly scathed. True, the first Contingent had sailed but the glamour of marching men in new uniforms masked the misery and the wreckage of war. Casualty lists had not started across the waters to us then. It was still thought that the war would be over by Christmas. By the next year Canada was beginning to realize the awful significance of the struggle. The raw Canadian troops had met Germany's best and had "saved the situation" at Ypres. The Western Front was established. Casualty lists were frequent. They were long. Further recruiting and the call for still more men came. By 1916 the Canadian corps was established; it had participated in the bloody Sanctuary Wood. The advance on the Somme had started. Rumours of the end of the war by Christmas were current but still the war dragged on. Vimy and Hill 70 were bright spots in 1917. Then came the nightmare of Passchendaele crowned with victory but at terrible cost. Then followed the dark days of the spring of '18, the rout in the south, the hammering in the north with the Canadian corps in the salient on Vimy Ridge, newly formed by the falling back of the flanks. But the crisis passed. The Allies gained in strength. The push started on the eighth of August in front of Amiens. The corps after the advance returned to Arras, made a victorious but dearly-bought series of advances along the Arras-Cambrai road penetrated the Hindenberg line, stormed the Canal du Nord and continued on to Cambrai, thence to Valenciennes and finished at the historical city of Mons on Armistice Day.

That day will never be forgotten by those who experienced it. It was one of reaction, of loosening of the tension, of almost unbridled joy.

Six years have passed. The world has been convalescing; crisis after crisis has threatened our peace but at each time the danger has subsided. We have not, nor shall we, for many years regain the position which was ours before the debacle of 1914. We are still striving to stabilize and maintain the world's peace. That is the greatest reason to be hopeful.

And now, because the two days would come so close to each other we celebrate the harvest festival and the end of hostilities on the anniversary of Armistice Day, the second Monday in November. It is the day above all others in the year when we think of our honoured dead and those who endured untold hardships.

CORRESPONDENCE

The Daily is not responsible for sentiments published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length. Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE SIDE of the paper ONLY. No communication will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

Editor of the Daily

Dear Sir:

In answering your correspondent in yesterday's Daily allow me to say that not all the facts of the case have been made known even if there was a good deal of misunderstanding on both sides. One certainly ought to remember that the ignorance which I displayed in daring to criticize the management of the Mandolin Club its ignorance inspired by the elusive and unsatisfying answers which I received from the different members of the executive.

Allow me to say in defense of myself that the Executive should have known that a number of students were eagerly watching the Daily for some sort of an announcement, and when this never appeared it was only logical to expect some sort of criticism. One must also remember that it would have been only right to have kept the student body informed as to what progress had been made with the arrangements—which again was never done.

Furthermore allow me to state that one must not necessarily be ignorant even if one criticizes. If I have made any undue accusations I apologize but I certainly wish to say that in this unfortunate incident I was not the only one at fault.

Yours truly,
Hyman Feigelson

"Shag" Shaughnessy Picks Them

The veteran McGill coach gives his idea of Canada's greatest Rugby players, and his reasons for the selection. A fine article on this popular sport by the man who helped "Billy" Hughes to the knowledge that brought two championships to Queens.

"Shag" gives some training and coaching axioms, and compares Canadian Rugby with the football of the U.S. Fans interested in the recent discussions of the two styles of football will do well to read this analysis of the two styles by an expert coach in both styles.

Proving What We All Know

Yellow Cab Rates Are The Lowest In Montreal

When Yellow Cab Service was established--Montreal was as devoid of a responsible taxi service as the Sahara Desert is of water.

Then, the so-called "taxi pirate" was king of the streets. To take a ride was worth the LIFE of your purse.

But from the moment Yellow Cabs entered the field--things changed. Order replaced chaos--honesty drove out deceit--responsibility became the order of the day.

Yellow Cabs gave to Montreal what Montreal was entitled to -- a responsible taxi service at a fair cost. They became Montreal's yardstick for measuring taxi value.

Yellow Cabs promised this--as volume went up fares would go down, and never for a moment has this process been interrupted.

Today is no exception to the rule. Yellow Cab volume is biggest--Yellow Cab rates are lowest.

Yellow Cabs operate on what is known as a "30-cent-a-mile" rate; the nearest to it is the "40-cent-a-mile" rate.

"It will always cost you less to ride in a Yellow Cab" is an everlasting truth as well as the Yellow Cab slogan.

And therefore our patronage continues to mount -- not only proving that we have kept faith, but that the public continues to know how to spend its money!

"GRAMMATICAL LOVE"

You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. You are struck with her feminine charm.

If she is Singular, you become Nominative.

You walk down the street changing to the Verbal Subject and then becoming Dative.

If she is not Objective in this Case, you decide to become Plural.

You walk home--together. Her mother is Accusative; father becomes Imperative.

You go in and sit down and find her little brother is an indifferent Article.

You talk of the Future; she changes the Subject for the Present time.

You kiss her and she favours the Masculine. Her father is Present and things become Tense and you are a Past Participle after the Active Voice is over.—Ex.

Fists, Falls and Foils

Practically all members of the Fencing Club turned out yesterday afternoon to practice under the direction of Professor Raimondi, who was on hand to instruct the new comers. At the practice it was pointed out to the members that they could come to the Hall, any afternoon, and practice by themselves thus gaining greater experience in this popular branch of sport. The club is fast getting into its stride and all things point to an extremely successful season.

The Freshmen Tournament which will take place in the last week of this month, will be something well worth attending.

Anyone who witnessed yesterday's workout of the Boxing Club at Molson's Hall, cannot help but corroborate the above statement. The raw material is fast rounding into shape and the more experienced men are putting on some finishing touches. The men are all enthusiastic and are taking their work very seriously.

With Ernie Robinson as mentor, the progress of the new-comers was appreciably noticeable, with the result that at the end of one week's work, the club is quite far advanced in the "art of self defense". There are a number of very good prospects on hand and coupled with the veterans who have returned, McGill will be strongly represented in the B. W. and F. meet at Toronto in February.

The routine through which coach Robinson put his squad through was, practicing punches and parries, shadow-boxing, skipping and finishing up by pairing the men off and have them box a few rounds.

As an addition, when the punching bags come in, he will put the men through a stiff quarter hour each right swapping punches with the invulnerable leather dummies as opponents.

About 40 men in all turned out and several weights were poorly represented. The heavy men made themselves the most conspicuous by their absence.

CHORAL SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED

Both Men and Women in New Musical Organisation

Vocal music in chorus will be the aim of the Choral Club which has been formed this year. Last year this branch of music sustained by the Glee Club but with the broadening of its scope by the inclusion of women as well as men the old club was discontinued and the new one organized. There were quite a number of the unavoidable delays always attendant upon the formation of a new Society but arrangements have been finally completed, and the society is now ready for the opening practice, and the sanction of the Students' Council obtained. An interesting programme of music has been selected, one which embraces the fine points of singing and at the same time is one entirely within the range of the average singer. All students interested in singing are invited to join. Irrespective of whether they have previously had experience in singing or not. There is no membership fee, and the demands made on the members' time is not great. The Society holds one practice a week, on Thursday nights at 7.30 a. m. in the Conservatorium Hall, and activities will not continue later than the end of February. Singing is a fine art, as well as a pleasant and profitable recreation, and is well worthy of the support of all students who can sing. A voice of solo quality is not essential. The opening meeting of the Society will be held on Thursday, Nov. 14th, at 7.30 p. m. Under Mr. Chapperton's able direction, splendid results are expected.

strued facts and the colleges eventually suffer. As a result, criticism of colleges and of students has become to be more noticeable at the present time than it was years ago. The logic behind the formation of this critical attitude, however, is not the best. It must be realized that the enrollments in our colleges today is far greater than the total before the war. And just as it is true now that in every group of individuals there are a few whose actions are always open to criticism, so was it equally true a few years ago. But with the increase of the size of this group so also is there an increase in the number of the undesirable students. The ratio of the one to the other is really no different than it formerly was, but the total has increased.

But because of the facts just mentioned students should exercise more than the usual amount of precaution to prevent any criticism being lodged against colleges in general because of the actions of a few individuals. The public judges a school by its various representatives—its athletic teams and their supporters, the men who have graduated, and those who have dropped their work before completing their four years. Many a school has received a black eye through the careless actions of several students during a week-end football trip to a rival institution. And the press of the country is willing to give wide publicity to any of the shortcomings of a student body.

ANATOLE FRANCE

(By Arturo Nieto)

Anatole France is dead. He was not only an officer of the Legion of Honor and a member of the French Academy, but the most noted French writer of to-day.

Looking summarily at the French literature of the 19th century in relation to social movements, it may be divided into three main periods of which Anatole France represents the third one. There was first the early period before, say, 1850, represented by men like Lamennais and Eugene Sue; there was second, the scientific period, represented by the Zola of the Rougemont-Macquart series, and there was, thirdly, the period after 1880, represented, most characteristically, by Anatole France. Probably we can best approach Anatole France of his latest literary period by considering his relation to Zola. He never quite reconciled himself to Zola's methods, and considering how like and yet how unlike they are, we cannot wonder at it. Zola was nothing else but a realist. Anatole France in most of his books lingers so sceptically and indifferently on the surface of life that he illustrates Burget's epigram that "Of all the vanities of this world the very vainest is to go on continually vaunting that all is vanity." His earliest writings had a touch of grim cynicism; his later works developed that quality. Always fond of books, he early devoted himself to literary work and made his debut as writer in 1868 in a biographical study of Alfred de Vigny. Published then two volumes of poetry, Les Phœbes Dorées and Les Noces Corinthiennes. His main novels are: Le Crime de Sylvestre Bonnard, Le Livre de Mon Ami, Le Lys Rouge, Les Desirs de Jean Servieu. In Thais, one of his best works, he painted the magnificent Alexandria of the Ptolemies. The Red Lill, Penguin Island and The Procurator of Judea (all of them translated into English). It is in this latter work that France conceived the striking unforeseen ending that is known to many persons who have not read all of his books.

France's father, a wealthy bookseller, seems to have been a thoughtful, meditative man, and his mother, a woman of great refinement and tenderness. Their son showed the result of the double influence. On one great social factor, religion, Anatole France was profoundly dissatisfied. He never distinguished between the spirit of religion and its embodiment in the Roman Catholic Church as he knew and disliked it around him. Passing summarily over his other distinctive opinions, it can only be noted that, like most of the recent French authors, Anatole France had no great love for politics and politicians. In his life as an artist Anatole France revealed to men their own littleness by reminding them of the simple and general life of eating and loving, in which all were bound to share. In his propagandist life as a Socialist he recalled men to a sense of their own inherent nobility by telling them of a special and complex life to which all were competent to aspire.

Love Are Dumb.

He asked her on the back porch,
On a moonlit starry night,
Alas, he was excited,
And he did not get it right:

"You cannot live without I
And each other must we have,
So are you tell I will me
It is me marry won't she?"

The poor girl was dumbfounded,
And knew not what to say,
But opened up her mouth
And poured forth words this way:

"Oh dear boy, how me loves us
And me too love I we,
But you we I are never
Is able can us marry."

"Me are a husband has got.
Him is I much do loves,
Alas, I is not are you have I,
Nor can it ever was."

—Battalion.
